

CALL FOR PAPERS:

NEBRASKA LABOR SUMMIT 2023

April 14, 2023

Lincoln, NE

The Economics Department at the University of Nebraska is pleased to announce the 2023 Nebraska Labor Summit, a one-day event devoted to discussing research in labor economics and closely related fields. The conference will be held on April 14, 2023, at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln College of Business in Lincoln, Neb., and will feature two keynote speakers: Anna Aizer, the Maurice R. Greenberg Professor of Economics at Brown University, and Christopher R. Walters, Associate Professor of Economics at the University of California, Berkeley.

In addition, the conference program will feature presentations of working papers submitted by scholars in the areas related labor economics, broadly defined. The summit will follow the format of last year's England-Clark Conference; see last year's agenda for more information. To submit a paper for consideration, please submit an abstract or working paper in PDF format at the following link: tinyurl.com/NebraskaLaborSummit or contact us at dtannenbaum@unl.edu or btimpe@unl.edu.

The submission deadline is December 15, 2022. The planning committee will finalize the conference program and notify the authors of submitted papers before the end of January.